Introduction: In the present seminar, deliberations will be held mainly on how the study and teaching of the Satyarth Prakash and other texts authored by Ṛṣi can be implemented in Higher Educational Institutions (Colleges and Universities). As it is well known that Maharshi Dayanand's work the Ṛgvedādibhāṣya Bhūmikā (being in Sanskrit in its original form) is prescribed in the syllabus approved by the Sanskrit Departments of many Universities, but keeping in mind the subject matter of the Satyarth Prakash and other Ṛṣi-authored texts, there is an ardent need to seek possibilities and practicalities of research, teaching and learning of these texts in Higher Educational Institutions.

All the Deans, Directors, faculty members, research scholars and students are hereby cordially invited to join through the given link and participate in the online lecture.
