Construction of state-of-the-art bus stand in F'bad likely to be over by Oct

Roadways, worker unions allege govt trying to privatise public transport

By Nisha Arora

HARYANA, July 27 Haryana's first state-of-the-art bus stand in Faridkot is likely to be ready in the next three months.

According to the authorities of the Transport Department, construction of the bus stand is well advanced. The bus stand is being built on public-private partnership (PPP) model as part of the state Transport Department.

It is a move to bring the state transport to the private sector. The department has proposed to develop the main (general) bus stand at Ballabhgarh as well as on the same pattern.

The three-year stand is proposed to have a shopping mall, multiplex, cinema, food court, waiting hall and other facilities for passengers and staff.

The stand will be on a plot of 100,000 sq ft. After the inauguration, only 25 buses will operate initially but the number of buses may be increased as per need in future, sources in the Transport Department clarified.
