From metro to rlys to buses, Anand Vihar RRTS stn will serve as a link to all modes

New Delhi: The Anand Vihar station, which will be the first stop in the national capital for those travelling from UP on the 103-km long Delhi-Muzaffarpur (DM) Rapid Transit System (RTS) corridor, is being built in a way so that it can serve as a link between the existing modes of transport at the hub that include a railway station, bus and intra-state bus services, and DDI Metro stations.

A spokesperson of National Capital Region Transport Corporation (NCRTC), which is executing the project, said multi-modal integration (MMI) is the core design concept of the upcoming Anand Vihar RRTS station, which is being built underground.

"Commuters travelling from this station will be able to reach Metro in less than an hour by RRTS train. Metro and inter-state bus services will also be available for last-mile connectivity to the hub," he said.

He added that the station's location has been planned in a way that it facilitates MMI among the six modes of public transport operated in the area - Anand Vihar IRTS, UP State Road Transport Corporation bus stand at Kausambi and bus stands from where local DTC and Cluster Scheme buses are available. The two Metro stations of Anand Vihar on Pink (Mall) Park-Shikha and Blue Lines (Uttarakhand) will be about 50 metres from the RRTS station and the Anand Vihar Railway Station will be 200 metres away.

"For passengers' convenience, there will be an elevator and three escalators with access to the platform, apart from two elevators and two

- One entrance of station will be towards Chaudhary Charan Singh Marg and the other towards Anand Vihar Railway Station
- Foot overbridge connecting the Delhi Metro stations in Chaudhary Charan Singh Marg will be linked with the RRTS station through elevators, escalators and stairs
- Station to be accessible for all with provisions like dedicated parking for differently-abled, automatic fare collection gates, and wide elevators that can accommodate wheelchairs and stretchers escalators connected to Metro stations. The station will have an entry/exit gate towards Chaudhary Charan Singh Marg and another towards the Anand Vihar Railway Station.

"At present, a foot overbridge (FOB) connects the Delhi Metro stations in Chaudhary Charan Singh Marg. The facility of elevator, stairs and escalator will be provided to connect the RRTS station with the FOB," the spokesperson said.

He said RRTS stations are planned in a way that they are connected to the existing modes of public transport and are built as close as possible to them.

"NCRTC has to deal with many complexities related to construction and civil engineering," he added.

He said initially the Anand Vihar RRTS station will be constructed at a depth of 16 metres, with the the station level at a depth of eight metres.

However, this will have more providing subways and additional elevators, stairs and escalators to connect it to other modes of transport and would have still meant more walking and climbing of stairs for passengers. It also would have involved digging deep near the foundation of many existing public transport networks.

"Therefore, NCRTC" re-evaluated its design and reduced the station depth to 16 metres and shifted the concrete to the ground level, he said.

LG writes to Del CM: Permission to robe a 'services' matter

New Delhi: Days after deputy chief minister Manish Sisodia accused Union government of "misconduct" in the law by granting permission to the anti-corruption branch (ACB) to investigate a matter pertaining to the construction of seven temporary COVID-19 hospitals, LG wrote to Del CM to advise your minister to refrain from such unproductive and poorly evidenced assertions, which are both misleading and obstructive in nature.

He said he expected "cooperation in this endeavor".

"In the interest of good governance, I would further request you to advise your minister to refrain from such unproductive and poorly evidenced assertions, which are both misleading and obstructive in nature," said the LG.

Regarding a letter written by Sisodia on June 21, Saxena said granting permission to ACB was a "services" matter which falls outside the jurisdiction of the LG.
