Dear Sir/Madam,

Department of Genetics is going to organize an One day National Workshop cum Awareness Program on "Bioethics in Research: A Need or Compulsion"

Ethics in science has increasingly become an important issue in democratic societies, especially subsequent to the rise of the modern life sciences. Bioethics is an essential & integral part of the standard procedure including privacy and data protection, confidentiality, intellectual property. These considerations have defined the conflict between the protection of human rights and the generation of knowledge. It is very important to learn how to interpret, assess, and apply various research rules and how to make decisions and to act ethically in various situations.

Aim of the present workshop is to help researchers grapple with the ethical dilemmas and resolve the issues like confidential communications, biosafety, protection of dignity of patient.

Eminent Speakers have been invited on this event to deliver lecture on Human & Animal ethics and Biosafety aspects.

You are cordially invited to register for this event and attend the same.

There is no registration fee for the event.
